NVM appoints new Managing Director

NVM Private Equity Limited announces that Martin Green has been appointed as managing director, taking over from Alastair Conn who has stood down after completing 20 years in the role. Alastair Conn has taken up the position of financial director and Tim Levett continues as executive chairman.

Martin Green is 44 and qualified as a chartered accountant with Coopers & Lybrand before joining 3i, where he became a director in the Birmingham office responsible for new investment across the Midlands. He then spent two years with Montagu Capital before joining NVM as a director in August 2004. Since then he has led a number of new deals for NVM, latterly taking over responsibility for the leadership of NVM's 10-strong investment team based in the company's offices in Reading and Newcastle.

Martin Green said: "I have really enjoyed my first four years with NVM and am delighted to have the opportunity of leading the next stage of the company's development. My appointment as managing director is the latest stage in a carefully planned transition from the original management group who founded NVM in 1988 – we have built an excellent business over the years and I am looking forward to working with Tim, Alastair and the rest of the NVM team as we go on to even better things in the future."
